

Plant Pathology Minor Handbook

Version: Fall 2019

Graduate School Minor Requirements

The PhD Minor in Plant Pathology is designed for students who wish to receive an Option A External Minor in Plant Pathology to augment their PhD curriculum. This minor option is not available to students pursuing a PhD in Plant Pathology. For more information on the Graduate's School requirements for a minor go to <https://grad.wisc.edu/documents/minors/>.

Plant Pathology Minor Course Requirements

A minor in Plant Pathology must meet the following requirements:

- Nine credits of Plant Pathology courses
- At least eight credits must come from UW-Madison courses
- One course must be introductory plant pathology, such as PL PATH 300 Introduction to Plant Pathology or an equivalent course
- No more than two credits can be from independent study or PL PATH 923 Seminar

At least one member of the student's thesis committee at the time of the student's defense must be faculty in the Plant Pathology Department. The curriculum committee and this thesis committee are responsible for approving student plans for a Plant Pathology minor.

Students wishing to pursue a minor in Plant Pathology should submit the Plant Pathology Minor form (<https://plantpath.wisc.edu/graduate-study-overview/handbooks-forms/>) to the Graduate Program Manager before requesting their prelim warrant.

Last updated: July 19, 2019